

BIOGRAPHICAL STATEMENT

Gloria Alpini, Dr.

Dr. Gloria Alpini (MPhil, PhD, University of Cambridge) is a Research Fellow at CISDEL, University of Urbino, Italy. A scholar of Comparative Literature and bilingual education, her research explores AI-empowered CLIL (Content and Language Integrated Learning) within the wider fields of digital pedagogy and intercultural education. Educated in Cambridge, Paris, and Milan, she developed CLILIA, an AI-integrated, transdisciplinary approach designed to foster empathy, ethical awareness, and intercultural dialogue through inclusive models of learning

Her work bridges the humanities and educational technology, exploring how artificial intelligence can be harnessed to preserve the human essence at the heart of education. In addition to her research on language pedagogy, she specializes in Enlightenment women's writing and the history of education, and has held academic appointments at the University of Warwick, The Pennsylvania State University, and institutions in the Middle East.
